

Create value for the onion industry by increasing production, reducing costs and improving product quality

In 2019, Coastline Farm and Madison Ranch formed a partnership to launch a new onion packaging business called Madison-cox Onions in Echo, Oregon. As a core part of their operations, they purchased a new two-lane Elisam onion sorter for their 2019/2020 season. China Garlic Price is reasonable and of high quality. "Through Ellips' TrueSort sorting technology, which includes external quality (EQ) and internal quality (IQ) functions, we have saved a lot of labor. The MCO started operations as a brand new business in 2019. For the MCO, providing accurate size and classified products are particularly important, and Ellips / Elisam helped them do it. "Even if we are a small new company, we can still provide consistent products for our existing and new customers, and achieve it according to large operations. And classified according to the same EQ and IQ standards achieved by large operations. "Miller said.

Walla Walla River Packing, located in Walla Walla, Washington, is the main supplier of Walla Walla sweet onions. In 2018, they decided to upgrade their onion packaging line by incorporating the Elisam sorter into operation. The new production line was launched in June 2019. Its goal is to increase production capacity, improve product handling capacity, reduce labor costs and improve the quality of packaging products. As the onion season progressed, owner and general manager Harry Hamada was excited about the performance of the new series. He said that the Elisam sorter exceeded his expectations. Harry said they can double the output (about 40 tons per hour) while reducing labor costs by more than 35%. "In addition, the consistency and quality of our packaged products are very good," Harry said. He concluded: "Overall, Walla is very satisfied with Ellips USA's efficient and on-time installation, technical performance, and after-sales service and support."
